Talent Contest Slated Jan. 23

A talent show to pick performers to represent Canyon on the March of Dimes telethon will be held Jan. 23 in the college auditorium.

The telethon, which will be shown over KFDD-TV, will be aired on Jan. 28 and 29.

Canyon's contest will be divided into four sections, children's, junior high, high school and college and non-school.

Eligible for participation in the children's division are those in the fifth grade and under; for the junior high, those in grades six through eight; for high school, those enrolled in grades nine through 12; and for the oldest division there are no restrictions.

The talent show will be supervised by Emmitt Smith, telethon coordinator for Randall County.

The talent show will begin at 8 p. m., and there will be no admission charge. Smith said a free will offering for the March of Dimes will be taken during the program.

Talent in the contest will be judged on the basis of whether or not the performers will be used in the telethon. The judges will work with a talent scout from KFDD-TV.

Those wishing to enter the children's division should contact Rex Reeves, principal of the elementary school; the junior high division, Lawrence Brotherton, principal of the junior high school; and high school division, J. E. Miller, principal of the high school. A contact man will be announced for those wishing to enter the college and non-school division.

Two City Boxers Win at Plainview

Two Canyon boxers won their fights in the opening night of bouts in the Plainview District Golden Gloves tournament Monday night.

Zeke Clement won over J. Layland of Brownfield by a technical knockout in 48 seconds of the first round. Bennie Baca won a decision over R. Myrick of Hart.

Losing a decision Monday night was Dewayne Clay, who lost to Mickey Hathaway of Hart.

Sixteen Canyon boxers were entered in the tournament by Coach Calvin Costley and manager Pat Britain. Britain said most of the boys drew byes in the first round, and several drew byes until the championship fights Thursday night.

Some 80 area youths are entered in the four-day fight card in Plainview. There were 13 fights Monday night, Britain said.

Any boy who is interested in Golden Gloves boxing may work out with the group from 7 to 9 p. m. each night in the college gymnasium.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Johnson and sons, Stanley and Quinton, and Mr. and Mrs. Dwaine Johnson spent the New Year holiday visiting their son and family in Council Bluffs, Iowa. From there Quinton returned to Ames where he is attending Iowa State College.

Fire Consumes Olympic Screen

Fire of undetermined origin damaged the backstage of the Olympic Theater this morning and burned the new wide screen installed in the theater last fall.

Fire Chief Paul Lindsey said the major loss was the screen, with slight water damage to the front part of the auditorium. The alarm was turned in about 9 a. m. and the blaze was out before 9:30 a. m.

Chief Lindsey said the fire apparently started about the center of the stage under the screen. The blaze was confined in the backstage area.

Charles Donnell, manager of the theater, said the new screen cost $500 when installed last fall.

School Census In Progress Now

The 1956 school census is moving right along, tax collector Lee Foster said yesterday.

The annual census is taken in January each year to provide a basis for state payments to the school system. All children over six and under 18 must be counted, even if they attend school in another district.

Foster said he and W. E. Miller, who are taking the census, are having good co-operation from the people they have contacted. He asked that any parent with children in the age bracket who is not contacted in the near future call the tax office.

The census takers are attempting to visit each home in the district for the enumeration.

Pastor To Preach Doctrine Sermons

The Rev. Lester L. Hill, pastor of the Methodist Church, has announced a series of sermons on the doctrines of the Methodist faith.

The first four sermons will deal with "The Sacrament of Baptism," "Infant Baptism," "Apostasy," and "The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper."

The first sermon will be delivered Sunday morning, the Rev. Hill said. He said the themes would not be discussed from a controversial point of view, but with the purpose of giving information and reasons for Methodist beliefs on those subjects.

The pastor said the series has been prepared in response to frequent requests by members of the church. He has invited anyone interested in knowing about the doctrines of the Methodist Church to attend the series.

Varsity-Exes Cage Game Will Help Playground Fund at Conner Park

West Texas State's high-riding Buffalo cagers and the men who helped write the college's great basketball history, will meet in a game Jan. 21 to benefit the Conner Park playground equipment fund.

The annual alumni game in WT's big fieldhouse was begun by the Canyon Rotary Club, with proceeds going to the playground fund. About $3,000 was spent last fall for equipment already installed, and last year's game raised about half that amount.

First of its kind last year, the game brought back to the campus many of West Texas State's All-America greats, including Joe Fortenberry, fabulous American Olympic team captain in 1932; George Ray Colvin, 1934; and the dribbling demon, J. W. Malone, who was named All-America in 1945.

This year, Troy Burrus, WT's latest addition to All-America ranks, is expected back to participate in the game, along with such outstanding performers as Sammy Malone, Cuby Kitchens, Charles Barnard, Bill Price, Borden Price and Austell Burrus.

Two members of last year's Border Conference champion team, rugged Bill Clifton and sharp-shooting Harold "Robbie" Robinson, with Troy Burrus, and two former Buff guards, James Morgan and Fred Green, could present a formidable opposing team for the present Buffaloes. Coach W. A. "Gus" Miller will handle his team for the game, while Borden Price, freshman basketball mentor, will direct activities for the alumni.

Tickets for the game, slated to start at 8 p. m., will be on sale by Canyon Rotarians, and at the ticket office in the fieldhouse on the night of the game.

Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. Donations for the fund will also be accepted.

"This will be an excellent opportunity for Canyon citizens to contribute to the playground fund," according to Raymond Raillard, chairman of the Rotary Club's youth committee.

"At the same time they will be able to see some wonderful entertainment and good basketball."

Half-time entertainment has been planned, "which will be a show in itself," Raillard said.

Joint Club Meet Slated Tomorrow

The Palo Duro Mother-in-Law Club and the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club will have a joint meeting tomorrow in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria at 11:30 a. m. A lunch and book review are planned.

Randall County Junior Livestock Show Scheduled on Square Jan. 21

The annual Randall County Livestock Show is slated for Jan. 21 here in Canyon with some 75 animals expected.

Judging in the show will be handled during the morning with the calves being brought to the square. Hogs will be judged in pens at the city barn, where the calves will also be housed.

The sale will be conducted during the afternoon.

Animals to be shown are those raised as projects by FFA and 4-H Club boys in the county. The show and sale are held each year to give the club and chapter members an added incentive to raise quality animals.

The Eagles play three games this week and next, meeting Dumas here Friday night. The B team game begins at 6:30 p. m., followed by the A team.

Saturday night, Canyon meets Borger again in Borger and the team plays Phillips Tuesday there.

Money Needed for System Growth, Meeting Higher Retirement Costs

Faced with the prospect of expenditures higher than income, the Canyon City Commission last week passed an ordinance raising water rates. The rate increase will become effective with the March billings and will cover water used in the last half of January and the first half of February.

In raising the rates, the commissioners noted that the 1956 fiscal year budget will include an item of approximately $61,000 needed for bond retirement. The fund will represent about 37 percent of the entire budget.

City Secretary Dudley Bayne said that the bond retirement money needed this year will be greater than ad valorem tax income by about $11,000.

The rate increase is the second since 1949, with one increase in 1953. Before the 1953 raise, 10,000 gallons of water cost users $3. Under the latest increase, the same amount will cost $4.80.

Bayne said the majority of users in the city come in the 10,000 class. The increase will be 80 cents over the present rate. He estimated that the increase would raise the city's income by about $24,000.

"This won't create an excessive surplus," Bayne said. "The city for years has operated on a basis of day-to-day operation. Anything that happened had to be done with borrowed money. There was no surplus set aside for contingencies."

The city is faced with several improvements and maintenance problems that must be solved this year.

Major among these is the addition of one trash truck and a crew to operate it, Bayne said. The truck will be needed badly this summer, he said.

The water booster plant needs a complete overhaul, he said. The estimated cost of that is $5,000. The overhead tank will be sandblasted and repainted inside this month at a cost of $1,200. The tank is beginning to pit inside, inspectors have reported.

Bayne said the water system needs some expanding at the present time, and if the city grows any, it will need considerable expanding. He said the city could not add any wells without passing a bond issue.

Any bonds issued by the city while in its present financial condition would result in the payment of premium interest rates. The bonded indebtedness is about $600,000.

The commissioners are faced with the problem of searching for additional water sources and developing them if any are found.

"If something happened to one of our pumps or wells, we'd be sunk because we don't have any money to do anything about it," Bayne told the commission.

He said material costs have risen some 40 percent in the past six years.

Pointing to other needs of the city, Bayne said several additional trucks are needed to replace equipment that is getting so old and worn that maintenance costs have risen too high to be economical.

"We need to try to put our system on a basis where we can keep it up, and install pumps and wells without a bond issue," he said. "We've put off maintenance because we have no money, and it's going to cost us a great deal one of these days."

The ordinance was passed as an emergency measure. Elsewhere in the paper is a chart giving a comparison of Canyon's present and new water rates with other Panhandle cities.

Pennario Concert Here Thursday

LEONARD PENNARIO

Still only in his thirties, Leonard Pennario would seem to be a bit young to be a full-fledged concert pianist.

But, he's an old man now compared to his age when he first began his highly successful career as soloist. His first concert was the Grieg Piano Concerto, which he learned in six days, with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra—at the age of 12.

Pennario will be the second Canyon Community Concert artist of the season, and will appear at 8 p. m. Thursday in the college auditorium.

Admission to the concert is by membership card only. Memberships were sold early last fall, and will not be offered again until this spring.

Pennario's first major triumph was with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. They liked him so well there that he's been back between 25 and 30 times.

His debut at the pinnacle, with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, was in 1943. They liked him so well there that he's been back several times, also.

The pianist's career was interrupted right after his first New York performance, however. He spent three years and gained three bronze stars appearing with Uncle Sam during World War II.

Pennario resumed his career with a coast-to-coast concert tour, and critics and public alike agreed he lost not one aspect of his talent during his service tour.

Since that time, Pennario has achieved honors in both recitals and with leading orchestras in the United States and Canada. He has been soloist with conductors Mitropoulos, Monteux, Rodzinski, Klemperer, Thor Johnson, Seivitsky, Wallenstein and Steinberg.

For several years now he has ridden the top of the best-seller list with Capitol Records.

Radio listeners have heard him on such programs as the Telephone Hour and the Kraft Music Hall. In movies, Pennario played for Joan Fontaine in "September Song."

Pennario made his first European tour in 1952 and played in Honolulu in the spring of 1954.

Dimitri Mitropoulos of the New York Philharmonic has noted of Pennario, "Collaboration with this young musician has been one of the happiest experiences of my life. I say musician because, although he possesses the technique necessary to virtuosity, he possesses what is more important, a soul."

EDITORIAL

Views and Comments

It's about time for us to get some more whitewash material from Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd. He's being criticized because of the insurance mess with U. S. Trust, much of the criticism being that he, or his office, refused to institute proceedings against the company last summer. So far, when the attorney general was criticized for something, newspapers have been fogged with material from Shepperd that paints him as a fine character who was used as a tool by some selfish interest or another while Shepperd was busy working for the best interests of the state in some other field.

Our country editors were put on the spot by Mary Kate Tripp, regional editor of the Amarillo Globe-News, recently. She made a series of telephone calls to every weekly newspaper in the area, asking questions about politics.

The story telling what we had to say was printed in the morning paper last Friday, and should give some insight into the status of political thinking of Panhandle folks. At least it will if we editors knew what we were thinking about.

Only a few of the editors thought President Eisenhower had a chance for re-election if he should decide to run again. And the biggest reason put forth for his drop in popularity was the honorable Ezra Taft Benson.

Ben Ezzell, editor of the Canadian Record, said the country people in his county, who are mostly ranchers, realize that the farm problem was inherited by the Republicans—which may or may not be strictly true. Other editors said Eisenhower was still popular and the farmers of the county might overlook the farm policy and the cost-price squeeze.

Harold Hudson up in Perryton said that many farmers there don't believe anything is wrong with farming that a three-inch rain wouldn't cure. (I think he's wrong there. A three-inch rain this month, another next month and two or three more spread out over the next few months might start a cure—but one three-inch rain would be like taking two aspirin for a migraine headache, it might help for a little while.)

However, the most quotable quote in the entire article came from Herschel Combs in Memphis, who said, "The Republicans will have to get some other Democrat to call himself a Republican."

One of the amazing things of the poll was the fact that the editors had little to say on the subject of the next governor of Texas. A few mentioned the subject, but that was about it.

Since the News-Globe is plumping for Price Daniel, they managed to make it look like he has an edge in the Panhandle, but when you read the statements from the individual editors, you won't find too much to substantiate the professed lead.

At any rate, if you'll clip out the story and save it until next November, you'll probably find how nearly incorrect we country editors are when we start trying to speak for our readers. I feel we were tempted, as always, to speak for ourselves.

When you or I borrow some money, we've got to pay it back by either raising our income or cutting down on our expenditures. Later on, if it becomes necessary for us to make a major purchase and we've been paying back our loan by using money saved from lower expenses, we must borrow more money because there is no slack in our budget.

After a while, if we follow that course, we get to the point where we can't borrow any more money and if some major expense comes along we're sunk. The only way we can take care of such an expense is to raise our income.

The City of Canyon is now in that position. The city has been borrowing money (in the form of bonds) for years, and has been paying back the loans through minor increases in revenue and by cutting expenses. Interest and principal payments are now a major item in the budget.

In cutting expenses, the city has been letting maintenance go until it became impossible to overlook work that must be done. Almost all the increases in revenue have come from growth, although there was a hike in water rates a couple of years ago.

Now, the city has reached the point where no more money can be borrowed. Actually, the city could float a bond issue, but it couldn't be sold without a premium that would raise the interest costs intolerably.

The budget has no slack in it. In order to make a repair here, something must be cut out there. The citizens demand at least minimum service, and have a right to that service—but the city doesn't have the money to provide what is demanded.

For instance, the city has grown enough that another trash collection truck must be put into service next summer. That means two more employees, at least, and another truck. Just last month, a concern downtown was selling trash trucks at a considerable saving, but Canyon couldn't buy because there was no money available. There is no money available for hiring any more men, either. But next summer, if your trash isn't picked up regularly, you'll be hollering—and you have a right to holler.

As a solution to the problem, the city commissioners have decided on an increase in water rates and an increase in taxes. Elsewhere, we've tried to present the city's financial picture as completely as possible. Read it, go to the city hall and ask questions—look over the budget, the books—and then decide whether or not it was necessary.

The commissioners picked the water rate increase as the one most equitable. It spreads the cost out over more people than any other they picked. Thusly, each user will have to pay a smaller amount than if the entire load were dumped on the middle users—as has been done at times before.

The tax rate increase will be comparatively small, and the combination of the increase in taxes and water revenue will be enough to put the city's finances on a better footing, the commissioners hope.

The Houston Chronicle recently pointed, editorially, to 1955 as the "year a mortal blow was dealt to one of the...most feared diseases, polio."

President Eisenhower's state of the union message to Congress stressed a balanced budget before the end of the fiscal year, and pledged submission of a balanced budget for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1. He gave hopes of a token reduction of the national debt.

But, he spoke out against any cut in taxes.

This, however, is an election year. Sometime this spring or summer, you can look for a downward change in income tax to come out of Congress. Then it will be up to the President to decide whether to become extremely unpopular in a hurry. He'll have to decide whether to sign the bill or veto it. Which would you do?

Navy Wants West Texas Company

Lt. Cmdr. Jesse L. White, officer in charge of the Navy Recruiting Station in Albuquerque, has announced that an all-West Texas Naval company will be enlisted in January.

The Chief of Naval Personnel has granted special permission to enlist this company, to be comprised of men from this state and to be known as the West Texas Company. They will carry this name until completion of recruit training at San Diego, Calif.

This special enlistment program has proven very popular with Naval recruits in the past. In addition to providing the assurance that "buddies" remain together through training, these companies fare better in competition with other groups at the training station.

The last special company enlisted from this area established a new high mark for 1955 in overall proficiency. Cmdr. White hopes this January company will establish a mark that will stand throughout 1956.

Applications for enlistment in this special company are now being accepted at all Recruiting Stations in the West Texas area.

Confirm Quail Population Rise

AUSTIN—All but one of 192 quail producing counties covered in a statewide survey showed a population increase compared to last year, according to E. A. Walker, director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

"Texas quail, hard hit by drought from three to six years, this fall have continued the population revival begun in moderation last season," said Walker.

"Of the 192 quail producing counties where population trends were determined and reported by commission wildlife technicians and wardens, only one showed a decrease as compared to last year."

"A total of 158 of the 192 counties showed increases in quail population, while 33 remained about the same as last year."

"The Panhandle promises the best hunting since the phenomenal season of 1951-52. Substantial increases also were reported eastward along the Red River, then south through Central East Texas."

"Other areas with substantial rises were in the Trans-Pecos, in the west-central section of South Texas, and along the coast and inland between Galveston and Corpus Christi."

Populations remained about the same in Central Texas and in the extreme southern and southeast portions of the state.

"Improved weather conditions, particularly during this year's nesting season, plus increased interest on the part of owners and landowners in improving quail habitat are factors credited with the comeback."

"Fall populations of quail, notoriously short-lived birds, are dependent to a great extent on hatching success of the preceding spring. Usually from 60 to 80 per cent of fall shooting populations are young of that year."

"Habitat is the most important long-range factor. Quail have amazing ability to survive poor conditions at least in small numbers, and these few are able to repopulate an area with astonishing rapidity once conditions are right."

"Thus, habitat improvement and favorable weather often induce rapid repopulation from small brood stocks of native quail, such as the revival experienced in moderation this year in Texas," Walker said.

There's Nothing Like a Tasty Casserole for Winter Eating

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

TRY combining wide egg noodles, deviled ham and cheese in a hearty, main-dish casserole. Tastes delicious, is easy to prepare and will please all the family.

Deviled Cheesed Noodles (4 servings)

One package (7-ounce) wide noodles, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 small green pepper, chopped; 1 small onion, chopped; 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 cup grated, process, sharp cheese; 1 family size (4½-ounce) can deviled ham, salt and pepper to taste, 1 cup evaporated milk.

Cook noodles as directed on package. In hot fat saute pepper, onion and parsley. Combine cooked, drained noodles with sauteed vegetables, cheese and ham. Season to taste.

Turn into greased casserole and pour on milk. If desired, sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or to a golden brown.

If you want an economical chicken dish, try this chicken-with-fruit-sauce recipe.

Chicken With Fruit Sauce (6-8 servings)

Two packages (1-pound size) frozen chicken thighs, breasts, drumsticks or wings, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup ginger ale (or a 7-ounce bottle), ¼ cup diced dried prunes, 4 thin slices lemon, ½ teaspoon salt, dash black pepper.

Thaw chicken as directed on package. Brown chicken in butter, add remaining ingredients.

Cover; simmer 45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Here's flavorful relief for the family's palates, yearning for something new after the recent diet of rich holiday fare.

Crop Rotation Checks Disease

COLLEGE STATION—Plant diseases common to a particular area are greatly reduced by growing different crop varieties and using proper crop rotation methods, says Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist.

While one variety in a community is desirable from certain marketing viewpoints, it usually sets up ideal conditions for development and increase of disease.

Farmers growing principally one field crop variety are apt to find diseases more widespread and severe. By interspersing varieties in a community, such widespread diseases are likely to be checked.

Varieties often differ in susceptibility and resistance to disease, thus disease producing spores from one variety may not easily infect another.

A community having one variety of cotton is not likely to have the disease damage that may be found in a one-variety community of oats, wheat, barley, rye, corn, sorghum, or rice. This depends upon whether the proper crop-rotation practices have been followed.

One variety of cotton grown continuously on one field, however, increases soil-borne disease organisms, as well as those carried through the air. Therefore, there is the possibility of greater disease damage.

This may be lessened by growing first one variety of cotton and then another on the land, or by the use of other preventive measures.

This principle applies equally to most crops, but it is not as effective as a disease control measure as crop rotation.

Some of the many diseases made worse by one-variety communities are leaf rust, and smuts on oats, leaf spot diseases on rice and covered kernel smut sorghum.

If crop rotations are not used in cotton, angular leaf spot, boll

BIGGEST OF THE BIG 3
-and mighty proud of it!

You certainly should look at the '56 Buick SPECIAL!

WE'VE said it before, and we'll say it again:

If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—and the sales figures make the proof of that stronger and stronger.

Just ask yourself: which cars would normally be in the top 3 of America's best sellers? The well-known smaller cars—naturally.

But which cars are in that Big 3? Two of the well-known smaller cars, and Buick—for over two years running now.

That means Buick prices are well within reach of more and more people—thanks primarily to the budget-tagged Buick SPECIAL, like

And that's the whole point of the matter.

For this low-priced Buick SPECIAL—so close in cost to the smaller cars—is so much more automobile for the money, it's the stand-out buy of its field.

It's the biggest of the Big 3 in power, thrill, in comfort, in size and breadth and luxury and sheer roadability.

It's the biggest of the Big 3 in the solidity and softness of its all-coil-spring ride—in the sweep of its styling—and in the pure thrill of its performance.

For where else but in Buick can you get the nimble getaway, the gas-saving mileage, the electrifying switch-pitch action and the absolute smoothness of the new Variable Pitch Dynaflo?

Come in to see and drive the biggest bundle of high-powered beauty and energy ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

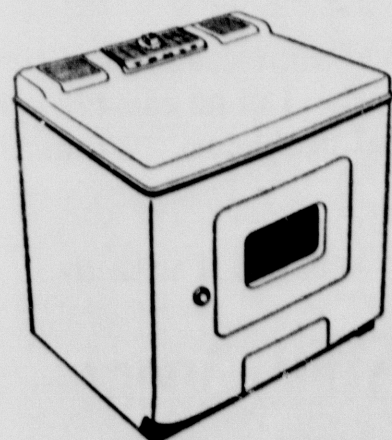

It's proud we certainly are to be able to offer so much car for the money—but nothing to how proud you'll be when you boss a new SPECIAL. Can you come in tomorrow?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Seven To Attend SCD Convention

Seven Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District supervisors are planning to attend the 15th annual Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors in Lubbock Jan. 18, 19 and 20.

Dr. C. H. Wadleigh, chief of the USDA's Soil and Water Conservation Research Branch, the main speaker, is expected to discuss research for better control of wind erosion and better use of water in crop production.

Billed as a working convention, there will be plenty of time for committee work and floor discussion of the many soil and water problems facing Texas.

A full slate of speakers is scheduled to address the supervisors. Speakers include L. L. Males, Cheyenne, Okla.; Bill Durham, Fort Worth Star Telegram farm editor; Nolen Fuqua, Duncan, Okla.; and Mrs. Eunice Johnson, Ford City. Those attending from here will be Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Begert and Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Conatser, all of Canyon, and R. C. Sampson, Bushland.

Rough Fish Control Measures Underway

AUSTIN—Slow but steady progress is being made in the effort to control excessive forage and rough fish in Texas fresh waters, reported Marion Toole, chief aquatic biologist for the Game and Fish Commission.

He said reduction of these excesses is desired as a part of the perennial program to keep fresh water fishing on the upgrade.

The biologist said angling luck in some lakes will be improved when over populations of non-game fish are culled, adding that sometimes fish are not interested in fishermen's baits simply because they have too much natural food.

"The selective kill of gizzard shad by rotenone," he said, "is being continued and a promising new method of applying powdered cube in its dry form into the water is being explored.

"One project concerns the Woodville Fishing Club Lake which was drained during 1955. A survey before the lake was tested indicated that 51.7 per cent of the fish population was shad. Actual counts were made of fish removed at the time of the draining and revealed that large mouth bass were plentiful, since 2063 bass or 44.8 per cent of these fish per acre were counted, many weighing two pounds or more.

"Furthermore, 11,225 crappie, mostly fingerlings, were removed. These comprised 22.10 per cent of the population. In addition, 27,658 sunfish or 54.43 per cent of the population were removed.

"The selective kill conducted on the lake didn't kill all of the gizzard shad since 6,468 were counted, but their percentage of composition was dropped to 12.73 per cent of the total fish present.

"In a search for suitable predacious fishes that could be introduced, the inland fishery division has been working in close conjunction with the marine division and plantings of channel bass and spotted squeteagues have been made, particularly in inland lakes having a fairly high chlorine content.

"Channel bass released in Lake Kemp (near Wichita Falls) have shown excellent growth over a period of several months duration. Seven fish have been taken thus far by anglers out of a plant of 27 channel bass.

Toole cited the work of contract fishermen as a factor in rough fish removal, reporting that approximately one half of the state's waters closed to netting yielded 1,171,495 pounds of gar, suckers, buffalo and carp during the year.

PURRFECTLY LOGICAL FORECAST—F. M. Ties, of Brodehead, Wis., holds one-third of his weather forecasting equipment in his arms. The other two devices are a calendar and a bit of American Indian folklore. Ties, whose snow forecasts are gospel in many parts of the midwest, notes date of the first snowfall deep enough to track a cat. Day of the month and number of days since the new moon figure in the formula, which indicates 45 snows will occur during the 1955-56 winter season. Ties says that his predictions have been accurate since 1921.

Who says a joke has no practical value?

An oil man had two leases side by side. He was obligated to drill a well on each tract by a certain date—and he had only half enough money. Then he remembered a little story he had heard your columnist tell. It went like this:

Cisco and Parks Camp were playing a baseball game one Sunday afternoon. (Parks Camp is, or was, a few miles south of Breckenridge and had a fast, semi-pro club.) The score was 3-3. Cisco at bat, first half of the ninth, no one on, two out. The sky had been getting darker and darker and now a black cloud was hovering over the scene. The batter hit a terrific drive and, while the ball was in mid-air, there came a bolt of lightning which cut it in two.

The centerfielder caught one half but it looked as though the other half would hit the ground and, if it did, it would roll so far that the batter could circle the bases. This would give him half a home run—and wouldn't that be a score to report to the papers:

3½ to 3!
Also Cisco would have had only two and one-half outs and of course a team is entitled to three outs. But if another player was retired, that would be three and one-half outs and Parks Camp certainly would be entitled to object to that.

All this was rushing through my mind as the outfielder raced toward the half of the ball, made a dive and caught that half, too, retiring the side.

That was the story.
The oil man (remember him? he was away back up the line) recalled this highly truthful narrative of the baseball being cut in two and it suggested a solution of his problem. He persuaded the two farmers to allow him to get by with one well, to be located right square on the boundary line between their farms. He hit oil and got rich.

All because of a Boyce House yarn.

Do you think he rewarded me with a check for $100 or maybe a suit of clothes?
You're right.

REDDY'S Farm Report

FROM THE AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT
SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

Although the "cage system" for poultry laying houses is the most profitable method, it has created one winter-time problem which, fortunately, can be easily solved through the use of electric heating cable.

It is a proven fact that water for poultry must be kept warm enough for adequate drinking; otherwise, egg production suffers sometimes to the extent that the flock never recovers its former high production. The long watering troughs used in cage laying houses actually act as radiators, giving up their heat content into the surrounding cold air and cooling or freezing the water. Electric heating cable installed the full length of the trough warms the water uniformly the entire length of the trough. If cable with sufficient heating capacity is employed, you will be assured of palatable water at all times in your poultry house.

Here's why electric heating cable is the only proven satisfactory answer to warm drinking water for poultry:

1. It is easy to install; however, it must be properly installed. Your local electrical contractor and your dealer can assist you in proper installation.
2. It is thermostatically controlled. Once plugged in, the equipment operates without attention until you unplug it in the Spring. The water is warmed to the desired temperature; the electricity shuts off automatically. You are never using electricity when it is not needed.

3. It is an economical system. The average cost for power throughout the State of Texas has been less than one egg per hen per season. Original equipment cost averaged over a period of years is low.

4. It pays. Holding high egg production through just one severe cold spell could pay for your entire installation.

5. It is safe. With proper installation of equipment and grounding of the troughs, there is no safety problem.

You can get additional information from your County Agricultural Agent.

Experience among egg producers proves that drinking water must be maintained somewhere between 50 and 70 degrees. The problem is more than keeping frost out of the water. The water must be kept warm if you are to maintain high production of large grade "A" eggs. A loss in production or small, under-grade eggs means a loss of money out of your pocket.

Heating cable can be the profit factor in your wintertime egg production.

Artist's drawing superimposed over photo shows various parts of water warming installation using electric heating cable. In actual installation, thermostat bulb would be located in center of trough or at opposite end from water source.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Scandals, investigations, trials and political upheaval kept Texas news lively in 1955.

Most of the big '55 stories are expected to have even bigger sequels in '56. In them may be answers to now-tense questions, solutions and attempted solutions to a raft of state problems.

Some 1955 stories and topics for their 1956 chapters include:

1. Veterans land frauds were revealed, and former Land Comm. Bascom Giles was convicted. More trials are pending, and scandals are a likely summer campaign issue.
2. U. S. Supreme Court decree and follow-up action by Texas Supreme Court wiped out Texas' school segregation laws. Desegregation moves also begin in public parks and transportation facilities. But many Texans in areas with large Negro populations formed Citizens Councils that will still be fighting in '56.

3. In an earliest-ever start two candidates, Reuben Senterfitt and Sen. Jimmy Phillips, entered the governor's race. Some half-dozen others jockeyed for position.

4. Wright Morrow was replaced by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey as national Democratic committeeman. How successful Ramsey is in uniting the feuding factions of Texas Democratic party will bear directly on these big '56 questions: What candidate will the Texas delegation support at the national Democratic

Lasting Peace Is Program Topic

"Combining Our Efforts of Lasting Peace" was the program topic at the Naomi Hare Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service Jan. 4. Hostess was Mrs. C. A. Murray.

Mrs. Lester Hill, program leader, emphasized the necessity of love, work and study to achieve lasting peace. A quiz discussion by Mrs. Velton Sogree, Mrs. Benny Woods and Mrs. Piner Stevens followed.

Beginning the program, Mrs. C. M. Dowlen read Psalm 42 which was followed by the song, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind."

Eighteen members were served refreshments by Mrs. Murray and co-hostess, Mrs. Arthur Olson.

For the next meeting, Jan. 10, women are to meet in the Intermediate classroom of the Methodist Church for a film. Fellowship with Mary Moss Richardson at "Rest Cottage" is also planned.

LITTLE THINGS

"It's the little things that keep people awake at night," says a doctor.

Especially those aged one day to 18 months.

Benson gets 2,335 letters on farm problems.

... Another short wheat crop in Texas is predicted for 1956, by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. USDA estimates next year's production at 19,602,000 bushels. That is only about one-third of average, but 46 per cent better than 1955.

Homer Garrison Jr., head of the Department of Public Safety, has ordered highway patrolmen to throw away warning ticket books and make arrests in every moving traffic violation. Reason for the order: 2,500 deaths on Texas highways in 1955.

The State is facing a suit by holders of some of the $1,000,000 in bonds issued by Texas as a Confederate state, in 1862. State Auditor C. H. Cavness said that inasmuch as the bonds apparently were used to aid the rebellion the state would be barred from paying any such debt or obligation.

Texas has been allocated 71,307 additional shots of Salk polio vaccine.

convention? What party will carry Texas in the presidential election?

5. Seven-million-dollar collapse of U. S. Trust and Guaranty Company left thousands of depositors and policy-holders with potentially heavy losses. For '56 it meant more investigations, a hot new campaign issue and possibly new laws.

Auditor's Answers Awaited
Answers to two big questions resulting from the bankruptcy of U. S. Trust and Guaranty Company of Waco hang on the auditing of the company's tangled financial accounts.

What the public wants to know is: 1) What percentage of their money will depositors get back? 2) What did the company do with all its money?

Estimates of depositor's recoveries range from 15 to 100 cents on the dollar. State Auditor C. H. Cavness said he is hopeful investors will recover 50 per cent or more, but added "enough may not be known for a month or two to make a good guess."

Cavness, at the request of the Senate investigating committee, also is trying to find out who got the money from checks totaling $25,000. They were issued by the company payable to "cash" during a period that coincided with the last legislative session.

Liquidation proceedings are expected to take one to two years. Garland Smith, chairman of the Insurance Commission, said the commission does not have enough staff to carry on the receivership work.

State Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston has advocated a special session if necessary to provide the commission with more examiners to enforce new laws passed last session.

Depositors Map Strategy
A statewide meeting in Houston sometime this month is planned by depositors in the defunct U. S. Trust and Guaranty Company.

At separate meetings last week in Waco, Dallas and Houston several hundred of the 5,600 holders of "certified drafts" kicked off their campaign to recoup losses.

They have hired legal counsel, and enlisted the aid of state officials and legislators.

Depositor's chances for substantial recovery are based on hopes that: 1) they will be made "preferred creditors" and 2) assets of subsidiary companies will partially offset liabilities of the parent firm.

Right To Work Laws

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has taken steps to fight for Texas' "right to work" law.

Shepperd petitioned the U. S. Supreme Court last week for permission to present oral argument in a case involving a similar Nebraska law.

Pending the federal judges' decision, the Texas Supreme Court has delayed action on a suit by railway workers to prevent a closed shop agreement between Santa Fe Railway and the unions.

A Texas law passed in 1947 provides that no person shall be denied employment as a result of membership or non-membership in a union.

To invalidate this law, said Shepperd, would destroy individual constitutional rights.

Laughlin Wins Suit
C. Woodrow Laughlin, South Texas off-again, on-again district judge, kept his right to stay on after efforts to disbar him lost out in court last week.

Laughlin was removed from the 79th district judgeship for official misconduct by the State Supreme Court in 1953. In 1954 he was re-elected and took office in January, 1955.

Disbarment proceedings, based on the Supreme Court findings, were instituted by the State Bar of Texas. Texas Fourth Court of Civil Appeals ruled out the Bar's petition, said charges would have to be proven before a jury.

It's Too Late To Worry Now

West Texas State students will begin a round of final examinations over first semester work Monday, with the week's tests closing Thursday.

Registration for the second semester will be held Tuesday, Jan. 24.

A new procedure for registering will be initiated with the spring semester enrollment, limited this year to a single day. The time that students register will be determined by the letter with which their last names begin.

In the past, students have registered according to number drawn, and always before registration opened, students stood for hours in line to draw early registration numbers.

Students who fail to register at the time designated must wait until the end of the registration period.

Order of registration begins with letters W through Z at 8 a. m., and continues backward through the alphabet at half-hour intervals. In the fall, 1956, registration will start with those students whose last names begin with the letters T through V.

Those who register first this spring, will be last next fall, so that by following the same procedure each succeeding semester, all students will have equal opportunities as to time for registering.

Compton Gets Chemistry PhD

The Ph.D. degree in chemistry will be conferred upon W. D. Compton, associate professor of chemistry at West Texas State College, by the University of Texas at the end of the current semester.

Compton recently completed his doctoral dissertation and oral examinations, final requirements needed for his degree. His dissertation, "A Study of the Synthesis of Ethylenimines by the Grignard Reaction," was a problem in synthetic organic chemistry.

After attending Texas A&M for a year, Compton transferred to North Texas State College, where he earned the B.S. degree in 1948. He was a teaching fellow at NTSC until he earned his M.S. degree in 1949.

Compton joined the faculty of Arlington State College as instructor in chemistry in 1949 and took a leave of absence in 1950 to enter graduate school at Purdue University.

In 1953-54, Compton became a teaching fellow in the chemistry department at the University of Texas. He was appointed to the Humble Oil and Refining Company Fellowship in Organic Chemistry in 1954. Elected to Alpha Chi, national honor society, Compton was named to "Who's Who at NTSC."

Compton's major field for the doctorate was organic chemistry, with minors in physical chemistry and bacteriology. His research director was Dr. H. R. Henze, professor of chemistry.

December Deaths Total 10 in Area

Ten persons were killed on Panhandle highways in December. An even 100 were killed during the year.

The Highway Patrol report for the month, issued by Capt. J. W. Blackwell, commanding officer for the Amarillo District, shows that in addition to the 10 fatalities in December, 84 persons were injured and there was $57,988 in property damage.

The death rate was increased by one over December, 1954, when nine deaths were reported. In that month, 62 persons were injured and there was $73,396 in property damage.

During the entire year of 1955, 847 persons were injured and there was $862,272 in property damage.

In 1954, 95 persons were killed and 669 injured and wrecks caused $832,852 in property damage.

The report listed speeding as the principal cause of the December wrecks. Second on the list was driving while drinking, and others listed were failure to grant right of way, improper passing and driving on the wrong side of the road not in passing.

The 18 patrolmen of the district, working in 26 counties, investigated 99 accidents and made 888 arrests, 632 of which were for speeding and 30 for driving while intoxicated.

The patrolmen worked 3,054 day-time hours and 1,944 night time and traveled 78,906 miles. They worked an average of nine hours a day for all the 31 days of the month.

Around the Town...

By DOVIE KEENE

"Hello, Mrs. Housewife, just what are you doing about Saturday noon?"

Asking this question to a number of women in town produced a varying set of answers. (I'm sure they all loved being called right in the big middle of preparing lunch.) Anyway, if you feel bad about Saturday noon sandwiches, don't. Woman, you're in the majority.

First on the list of calls, Mrs. Iverson Leake took time out of lunch preparation to chat about her day's activities. She said in the morning, she had picked out a quilt top pattern and then started hustling together a light lunch of chicken and noodle casserole and fruit gelatin salad.

In the afternoon, she said she would be busy getting ready for a dinner at which guests were to be Tommie and Felix Pierce.

No school on Saturday and time to relax a little, at least early in the morning, was the assumed attitude at the Borden Price home. After a late breakfast of bacon and eggs, Mrs. Price did a hand washing and prepared a light lunch of, yes, sandwiches. Ironing and dusting were on the afternoon activity list.

In the middle of beige, cotton material, pins, needles and sewing machine, Mrs. Newton Crain answered the telephone to tell about a dress she was making for her youngest daughter, Dorothy Jane. She said every year about this time she feels the urge to sew and this year was using it to advantage by getting an early start on making spring clothes for her daughters, Dorothy Jane and Charlotte. Earlier in the week, she made a cotton dress and last year made drapes.

After a late breakfast, Mrs. Crain and the girls felt sandwiches would suffice. She planned a heavier dinner when Mr. Crain returns home from work.

Mumps, cookies and dishes to be washed were surrounding Mrs. J. O. Parker Saturday morning, but her voice was cheerful and she sounded full of pep. The mump malady was accredited to her son, Jerry.

Her oldest son, Foster, student at Texas Tech, was expected home about noon, so Mrs. Parker was busy baking icebox cookies and beginning lunch. The noon menu was to include chicken and noodles, green beans, fruit salad and cookies and ice cream with strawberries.

What does a preacher's wife do on Saturday morning? Mrs. L. L. Hill, wife of the Rev. L. L. Hill, said she had been at the college most of the morning filling out a Master's degree plan.

Mrs. Hill has taken a course in counseling and is taking a seminar course in education. "I should like very much to obtain my Master's

I didn't think I would ever get my B.A. degree, but I did and so why not try for my Master's?" she said.

After all the rich holiday food, Mrs. Hill was anxious to get back to just plain old food and planned a main dish that is a Texas pride. She served pinto beans with french fries, turnip greens and green salad. For dessert were holiday cake and ice cream.

How's your Saturday morning?

Each Christmas, the P-TA gives the grade school rooms each $5 which is usually used for treats. This year, however, the first grade taught by Mae Simmons, had another idea.

Annually the teachers ask the children what they want to do with the gift and this year instead of buying treats, which they said they could get at home, the children asked that the money be sent to Korea through CARE. Mae Simmons matched the $5 and everybody felt good inside.

In the third grade, taught by Mrs. Earline Moreman, there was similar response when the children decided to give $1 of the $5 to CARE and $1 to the March of Dimes.

Hey, girls, it's Leap Year again and you know what that means, or do you?

Sure, everybody knows Leap Year means an opportunity to ask the $64 question to that single male friend who develops laryngitis and blushes at every subtle suggestion of matrimony, but from whence the origin of such an idea?

Well, gather around girls and here's the story, short and sweet. Way back in 1288 things must have been pretty hopeless in Scotland because the rulers (which must have been men...) passed a law that goes something like this. "All ye unmarried women now have the r-right to propose marriage in Leap Year-r. The eligible man to whom you propose must accept or pay a maximum fine of one pound." It wasn't long before France, Germany and Florence followed suit.

I can just imagine all the lasses giggling and thinking "that do make it nice." If one didn't get a man by the end of Leap Year one surely could get rich.

Poor Mrs. J. C. Dowd. Her telephone never gets a rest now. Due to an item that said that Mrs. Dowd spent the holidays in Yukon, Alaska, she has been receiving many interested calls. She is unable to give any news though because her holidays were spent in Yukon, OKLA.

While Mrs. Dowd was in Oklahoma visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Helmick, she received news that her sister, Mrs. G. S. Ballard, of Amarillo, fell and broke her hip.

TOY OF THE STORM—It's not a toy boat, abandoned on a placid beach by some child. This powerful picture shows the Belgian trawler Beatrice Fernandez, battered by thunderous waves onto rocks off the Bandshire Coast, Scotland. Of five crewmen who tried to swim ashore, three drowned. Three men who stayed aboard were rescued by breeches buoy.

Last week, another sister, Mrs. Murray Evans, and she stayed with Mrs. Ballard, who is in fair condition.

Virginia Elaine Cundiff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Cundiff and University of Texas student, is the new president of Blanton dormitory. Elaine is a member of Alpha Phi social sorority and Spooks, a campus service organization.

Mrs. Frank Stallings, David and Diane spent two weeks in the home of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Foster. Frank joined them New Year's and they returned to Austin with him. Other visitors New Year's were Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Stallings Sr. and Dan Stallings.

Something new has been added at Bellah's Super Market. Friday, an aluminum electric barbecue pit with two large windows which enable customers to see the meat as it turns was installed. If seeing how juicy the meat looks isn't enough to tempt the buyer, the aroma is.

Meats that were being barbecued Saturday were roasts, chickens, spare ribs, hams and weiners. It takes about two to three hours for most selections of meat.

Tinting Silk Ties Shown to 4-H

The Pleasant-Jo 4-H Club heard Mrs. Mona Hildreth, H.D. agent, at a recent meeting in the home of Sharon and Peggy Cranmer. Mrs. Hildreth discussed the four H's of the club title and gave a demonstration on tinting silk ties and scarfs.

In the business session, Peggy Cranmer was elected club reporter. Refreshments of cookies, ice cream and soda pop were served to Patricia Salmon, Katherine Winstead, Judy Wilson, Jean Brazil.

Jan Newman, Sharon and Peggy Cranmer, Mrs. Hildreth, Mrs. Cranmer, Leta and Dorothy, and Mrs. Winstead and Brenda.

The next meeting will be at the home of Norma Henderson on Feb. 7.

COURTESY RULES

The teacher wrote on the blackboard: "The horse and cow is in the stable."

"Now," she said to one little boy, "what is wrong with that sentence?"

"Well, miss, you should say, 'The cow and horse is in the stable.'"

"Why?"

"Ladies first."

One satisfied customer said the chicken which she bought was unusually moist and flavorful.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schramm of Flagstaff spent Christmas with Mrs. Schramm's mother and brother, Mrs. W. G. Rose and Kelly.

Going downstate for the holidays, Mrs. Hattie Brasuel spent Christmas in the Valley with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Karnes.

Christmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Thomas were Mr. and Mrs. James Ream of Wellington, Kan., and a brother, Jimmy.

The first woman newspaper editor was Ann Franklin, Benjamin Franklin's sister-in-law, who became editor of the newspaper, Mercy, in Newport, R. I., on Aug. 22, 1762.

'Mad' Buck Goat of Tale Told By Hunters in Austin Deer Area

AUSTIN—For weeks motorists, woods folk, and even some hunters had been intrigued by tales of the "mad" buck's operations along a winding, scenic rural road just beyond the hilly northwest outskirts of Austin.

They could see for themselves as they crept along the narrow, circuitous roadway. For conspicuously on the fringe of the trail, bushes apparently had been hooked and whipped, with bark on some larger trunks stripped down to the whitened inner growth.

Yes, "a mighty big un" counseled the old timers, as they rode comfortably along, disdaining a closer look because of the briars and undergrowth matted over the tricky terrain.

Surely, that was no ordinary buck deer bashing his horns against fragile snags and limber new growth, as normal male deer do characteristically carry on during the breeding season.

So, in the area famous as "good deer country," developed the story of the "mad" buck deer.

Visions of a monstrous whitetail slashing violently through the brush, overwhelmed not by natural romantic tendency but rather converted into a raging beast, probably dangerous. Yes, literal madness could be the cause.

The call came at night to a Game and Fish Commission employee. "Could a buck deer have rabies?" And the breathless inquirer recalled the extremely rare cases involving deer afflicted with rabies.

Next day, E. A. Walker, director of Wildlife Restoration, led a small delegation to the scene, including a few of the observers who had finally relayed the tall tale to the Commission.

Off to the right side of the road, just beyond a water tank, and reflected against the dull cedar brakes, were the sumac bushes, plainly whitened by the stripping operation. First glance could have been convincing since sumac, or squaw brush, is a favorite horn honing growth for buck deer in the fall.

Yes, the very ditch by the side of the road yielded deer tracks when the director of Wildlife Restoration dismounted. Slowly and studiously he approached some of the barkless saplings.

Ridges on the growth, seemingly from teeth marks, prompted the first suspicion, because buck horns hone surfaces relatively smooth. Also there was no residue at the base of the brush where the rubbings should have dropped.

"Ah!" exclaimed the director, dropping to one knee a la Sherlock Holmes, "Goat hair!"

P. S.—The unbelieving were further assured that while the area currently provided a fine deer crossing because of the cover growing smack against the roadway, another route probably will be chosen sooner or later since such goat devastation invariably dooms the brush that is circled at the base by their avaricious teeth marks.

Refugees

Refugees asking for entrance into the United States are people who have fled oppression and are now uprooted.

Congress has acted in the American tradition by passing the Refugee Act of 1953 which opens the nation's doors to 214,000 refugees.

Canyon's share of these uprooted people may come only if the government is given assurance that these people, when they come, will have jobs, a place to live and will not become public charge.

A hundred thousand of these people look to our Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Churches as their only hope. Romann Catholics and Jews care for their own.

But our people may come only when we say "here is an assurance."

The cost is only what may be needed to cover transportation from the seaport and the essential living costs until they get started. Then, when able, the newcomer

Windbreak Trees Available Now

Seedling trees for windbreak plantings have been made available again this spring.

The Texas Forest Service in cooperation with the County Extension Agents are taking orders now for March delivery.

Randall County people wishing to order trees should place their order with Mrs. Mona K. Hildreth, Home Demonstration Agent, or John Brazzil, County Agent. All orders for bulk delivery must be in prior to March 1, 1956.

This year the orders will be held until March 1, and a bulk delivery will be made to Canyon. There are three species of trees that will be handled this way.

These species are Red Cedar, Ponderosa Pine and Chinese Elm. Price is $1.50 per 100 trees.

No order for less than 100 trees will be accepted. Fifty trees of one species is the smallest amount packed.

There are a few additional species of trees that are grown by the Forest Service that may be gotten by direct order. The price for these trees is also $1.50 per 100 postpaid.

Each person ordering trees must agree to use the trees only for windbreak plantings and not resell them. Checks payable to the Texas Forest Service must be attached to each order.

For the last four years Randall County has used more windbreak trees than any other county in Texas. The Extension Agents urge county people to place orders early.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Southwestern Part of Russia

There are two primary methods of travel in Russia. One is by railroad, the other by air.

Although some highway work is under way, the roads are not in good shape and it would be most difficult to attempt to travel around the Soviet by automobile. I had thought that we might be able to make the trip from Moscow to Kiev by car, but this was ruled out because of the time element involved and the road situation.

We traveled from Moscow by the Russian Airline Aeroflot. The airport is quite a distance from downtown Moscow. As a matter of fact, we traveled for almost an hour before reaching it.

During this trip we had the opportunity of viewing a part of the countryside. We saw several herds of grazing cattle.

These were the dual purpose type cattle and resemble our dairy herds. They were being grazed along with a large number of sheep and goats in the same pasture. The cattle looked rather thin, which was understandable in view of their grazing company.

The Moscow Airport building is a large, well equipped structure that is well attended and seemingly accommodates quite a bit of business. While we were waiting for our papers to be properly processed, several outgoing flights were called, one to North Korea and another to Shanghai.

There were quite a number of Russians, Mongols and Orientals who boarded these flights. I also saw several people who had an Occidental look in these groups.

Who they were or where they were going I was not able to find out. There were quite a few newspaper people at the airport preparing to fly back to Leningrad to cover the visit of the several British warships making an official visit.

I talked at length with the young woman who was an interpreter for a group of newspapers. She was Russian but spoke perfect English.

She told me that she lived with her mother in living quarters that were located near Moscow University; that her job was to go with the newspaper reporters and do all interpreting for English and American newspapers which they represented.

She said that she was an ardent believer in Communism and that the Russian people were better off today than they had ever been.

I told her that I did not doubt that the Russian people were probably better off than they had been under abject serfdom, but that there was a much better way of life and that I hoped the Russians would have an opportunity to experience the freedoms that we enjoy in this country.

I bid her goodbye and she went to board the plane. However, when our plane was called a few minutes later I saw her on the ramp and she told me that they had lost their newspaper correspondents and that the plane for Leningrad was being delayed.

This did not seem to be disturbing anyone, but it was highly unusual for a public conveyance to be delayed in Russia to wait for anyone.

The plane on which we traveled from Moscow to Kiev was much the same type of craft as we had flown from Helsinki to Leningrad. However, it was much better appointed inside and there was a hostess aboard.

She was a young Russian girl who knew a few words of English but who preferred to converse in Russian through our interpreter. There were a number of other people on the plane including several Russian Army officers.

We visited back and forth with all of them and had a very congenial trip to Kiev. We arrived in Kiev in mid-afternoon and were immediately taken to the hotel.

By Russian standards it was a very nice hotel although far from comparable with the first and second class hotels in this country. The people seemed much more friendly than they had in Leningrad or Moscow.

This may have been due to the milder climate, but I kidded some of the northern members of the committee that it was just a case of having crossed the Russian Mason-Dixon Line and proved that people south of one of these lines are always more friendly than those north.

We first noticed the added friendliness after we had cleaned up and were waiting in front of the hotel for the remainder of the group to proceed to another conference.

I was wearing my usual Texas hat which attracted quite a bit of attention, and Mr. Derounian, a member from New York, was smoking a long cigar. They were all grinning and waving and when we offered to shake hands with them they were apparently very pleased.

Some of them did stand for four or five minutes staring at the cigar and grinning. Cigars are unusual in Russia. They make cigarettes.

Kiev was a very interesting city. It had been almost completely demolished in the war, but had been rebuilt and there was very little evidence of any war damage. The Russians were very proud of the job they had done in rebuilding this city and held it up as an example of what they were able to do.

Next week I shall attempt to cover the trip that we made to a textile mill in Kiev.

Things to Watch For in the Coming Session of Congress

The early days of January '56 will usher in the second session of the 84th Congress. 1956 being an election year there is little doubt that the Congressional session will be a hectic one. An attempt will be made to dress up much of the legislation with voter appeal.

The chances are good for the AVIS MACADAMUS—New specie for ornithologists to study in years to come is the "highway bird." A prime example of the fowl is shown, above. Its tail feathers form the approach to a service plaza under construction at Lawrence, Kan., for the new Kansas Turnpike. Bird's body is outlined by lanes of the 236-mile route. They join to form the beak, which stretches into the distance at upper right. "Perch" is a secondary road which will be bridged by the new through-way, slated for opening by October of this year.

Senate to act early in the session for a correction of the softest spot in the economy, to wit, the farm problem which involves the tragic decline in farm income.

Many of those who have participated in the downfall of the farmer will reverse their position, and try to appear as a great champion of the little farmer. They are going to be surprised that the farmer has not been hoodwinked, but has kept up pretty well with the identity of those who try to follow popularity trends regardless of the damage it might do to one segment of the economy.

The administration can expect terrific opposition to any attempt to tie this country down on a ten year foreign economic aid program. The truth is that these foreign aid programs have barely skinned through during the last several years.

I do not believe that this Congress or any other one will bind this country to a ten year commitment on foreign economic aid.

In fact, I believe that after the administration takes one look at the feelings of the Congress, it will not attempt to force the issue on a program that they were condemning in 1952. I don't believe even the most ardent supporters of these foreign aid give-away programs would argue that they have not produced even a small percentage of the results that were expected.

The natural gas bill will be turned into a political issue by the big utility companies of the East who will use as their spokesmen the ultra liberal members of Congress whom they usually criticize.

Tax cuts for the low income and middle income groups will be up for major discussion. These people may get a part of the income tax cuts that they were entitled to last year when sizeable tax concessions were made to the large income groups.

Here's Your Chance

Well, it is the beginning of a new semester, and one has a clean slate. There may not be a chance to improve the first semester in any way, but let's make the second better.

The first semester is history. If one's grades are not quite as high as one would like, it is too late to improve the semester grade now. But by hard work, one may lift the yearly grades. A student who did not pass at least three solids during the first semester is not eligible for Interscholastic League activities. That pupil must remain passing in three solids throughout the second semester.

Coming in the second semester are the junior play, the senior play, the junior-senior banquet, the all-school picnic, and graduation. Along with these major events are minor activities such as Interscholastic League contests, volleyball, and track. There is also a mild thing called studies which will play a major part in the student's life. Let's all do our part and make this upcoming semester an outstanding one.

None Are Safe

Does the production and availability of the Salk vaccine mean that dreaded polio is conquered? Is polio licked?

No. We still have a long way to go in the fight. Certainly the Salk vaccine is a tremendous stride forward, but how long does the effect last?

Science is still seeking answers. You and I can aid science through the March of Dimes. We teenagers should especially try to help, for three out of every four cases of polio occur in persons 19 years of age or younger. If your family or mine needed financial help, every single one of them as well as every other American stricken with polio is eligible to receive aid.

Much progress has been made in the long battle against polio. Now is not the time to let down our effort, for 68,000 victims still need aid.

Won't you give?

Third Year Homemaking Class Visits Amarillo Stores on Trip

Interior decoration and housing were the main interests of the homemaking girls in the field trip to Amarillo January 4. The third year homemaking class was accompanied by two sponsors.

The group made its first visit at Heath's Furniture Store where the members were shown the construction of different furniture styles and the finish on modern and traditional pieces.

The next stop was made at the J. W. Hill Furniture Store. The third floor of Hill's store was a room in a home. Modern, early American, Italian, 18th Century, and traditional furniture with accessories were displayed.

The students found an old-fashioned maple telephone interesting in one of the displays. When the receiver was taken off the hook, the radio came on and the different radio stations were dialed by the crank on the side.

After lunching at the Silver Grill the class continued their trip to Yoe's Drapery Shop where they were shown new trends in draperies.

The group concluded their trip by touring the Modernaire Village where houses in all states of construction were viewed.

Students making the trip were: Lynn Atkinson, Jackie Barnard, Florence Clements, Charlotte Crain, Carolyn Davis, Winnifred Golden, Martha Harding, Mary Ann Irlbeck, Ann Howard, Vanda Latham, Debra McDonald, Sandra Michael, Sue Reynolds, LaVerne Riley, Marcus Robinson, and Cecilia Waters.

The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Clara Long, home economics teacher, and Miss Jan Waldrop, student teacher from West Texas State College.

Janitors Clean School Building

During the Christmas holidays, while the CHS students were taking a vacation, the janitors of the high school cleaned and worked on the building. Included in the labor was the beginning of the installation of new curtains in the auditorium.

The janitors tore out all the old curtains and cleaned up the auditorium to prepare for the workmen who are now at work, painting the stage, and hanging the curtains. Also cleaned thoroughly were each classroom, with the floor being mopped and waxed. The windows were washed and cleaned.

Everything was taken out of the cafeteria, and the lunchroom was cleaned. The light system was gone over, and new fuses, bulbs, and other things installed as needed. All restrooms were washed and scrubbed. Grass and flowers were watered, and trash picked up from the yards. Trash cans were emptied, and the rubbish burned. By the time school was to take up again, everything was finished except the auditorium.

Prof Highlights

Much reading of library books follows the trend of the times. Two years ago when much emphasis was being put on the possibility of space flight, Canyon High students began clamoring for more and more books on this subject. John Robert Wheelock thinks he has read every book on that idea that may be found in the school library.

Sports books are always popular. Football boys, especially, may be found at the sports shelf discussing the books they find most interesting. Several boys say they have read the 35 on the shelf. Many CHS girls are rapidly becoming football minded; they, too, help to keep the books circulating at a rapid pace.

This year the so-called "hot rod" books are the rage. John Winters, Ted Fowler, John Hill, Bob Zachery and Tommie Davis are some of the students who enjoy this type, but since the subject used as the theme of novels is new, not too many have been published as yet.

Last year Connie Wilkins averaged reading four books a week, but sophomore assignments this term keep her too busy for much leisure reading. Jerry Parker is elected to take her place as the fastest reader in school. Nancy McCormick, Ann Jarrett, and Margaret Juniper read several books monthly.

At least two-thirds of the student body enjoy reading as one may see when he notes the number of books checked from the shelves daily. Among the favorites are historical, mystery, career, and adventure novels. Biography claims the interest of the more advanced readers. Book lovers may not realize it, but they are finding cheap entertainment, and are giving themselves a background for future cultural attainments.

It is acknowledged that leisure reading has its place, but the policy of Canyon High School is to encourage its student body to read the classics in order that they may have the classical background needed for college work, the understanding of lectures, or TV programs given on advanced levels. Don't forget that the people who win the big prizes are people who know.

Retired Principal Donates Books

Miss Elva Fronabarger who retired two years ago from her post as principal of Canyon Grade School recently donated a large number of books to the high school library for the convenience of the students.

The newly acquired books are: The Sketch Book, Our Will Rogers, Mary Lincoln, Man-Eaters, Home for Good, John Adams and the American Revolution, Pride and Prejudice, Florence Nightingale, A Book of Americans, People of the Blue Water, Favorite Greek Myths, 30th Anniversary of Reader's Digest, Beauty and Romance, Random Harvest, Twenty-Five Selected Stories, Up Front, The Autobiography of Will Rogers, and South Moon Under.

Eight other books received from the Foreman Book Store of Los Angeles, Calif., are: Henry the Eighth, Life of King George V of England, Bernard Shaw, King Alfred of England, Wellington, Old England, John Marshall, and The Dark Ages of London.

Rose Parade Is Seen by Students

"I wonder what the assembly is about today?" "Nobody knows anything about it!" "Gee, I hope we don't get bawled out for something."

These and other similar comments were heard in the halls Jan. 2 as the CHS students hurried to assembly.

However, a big surprise was in store. Mr. A. M. Cunningham, local Maytag dealer, had temporarily installed a television set for the purpose of allowing the students to view the 67th annual Tournament of Roses parade. The set was used the remainder of the day by students who, during study hall periods, wished to watch the bowl games.

Another television set was taken to the band hall fourth period by Bonnell Riley, band member, where the members watched the Cotton Bowl game.

Safety, Money Are Main Reasons Why Driver Education Is Needed

There are two main reasons why students should take driver education: first, and most important, to protect him and other drivers; and, second, so he may take advantage of the new 10 per cent reduction on insurance.

Teen-age drivers have achieved a reputation for careless driving, but accidents have been reduced by proper training. Since driver education has been offered in the schools of St. Louis, not one person who has had this course has been involved in an accident. Young people who have not taken an approved driver education course lack the proper attitudes, habits, and skills to make a safe driver.

These unsafe drivers are the ones who cause accidents. Eighty-five per cent of the accidents are caused by 15 per cent of the drivers. The number of people killed in automobile accidents in 1955 was 35,000, which is greater than the sum of the dead in all three years of the Korean war!

The following three paragraphs are direct quotes from the Abilene News-Reporter.

"On May 1, 1955, the Insurance Commission of Texas acknowledged the benefits of driver education by declaring a 10 per cent reduction on insurance payments for drivers under 25 years of age who have completed an approved driver education course. With the basic liability limited to $5,000 per person, $10,000 per accident, and $5,000 property damage.

"Here are the premium for four classification of drivers:

1. No driver under 25 and not customarily driven to and from work, $28.
2. Boy age 14 to 25 is driver, $45.
3. Girl age 14 to 25 is driver, $37.
4. Boy or girl under 25 is principal operator or owner of car, $55.

Collision ($50 deductible) of each of the four classifications listed above, $40, $65, $54, and $79."

Polio isn't licked yet! 1955 was the eighth consecutive year of heavy polio incidence. Moreover, three out of every four polio victims are 19 years of age or younger.

With the discovery of the Salk vaccine there has been a tremendous step made forward. Now, at long last, we have reason to hope for the eventual control of polio but a vaccine does not eliminate a disease overnight. We know enough to be able to say that polio will eventually be controlled, but we still lack a great deal of knowledge.

We do not know, for example, how long the effect of the Salk vaccine lasts. The reason we do not know is that there has not been enough time or money. We do not know how to make the Salk vaccine less expensive. We do not know whether the Salk vaccine can be improved. Other vaccines have been improved but the Salk vaccine is still a mystery to scientists. We do not know how to make the Salk vaccine without using monkey kidney cells to grow the virus. Therefore, your dimes and mine are needed to help carry on this research.

Much also remains unknown about the virus itself. What is it made of? Why is it so damaging? What exactly is its chemistry? To find out these questions and many more a great amount of money is needed and only through receiving donations can that money be obtained.

The expense for polio equipment has reached its highest peak. Money is desperately needed in this fight. We must have money to continue using this valuable equipment. Every dime you give will help tremendously in this march against polio.

Costly also is the training of millions of nurses, physical therapists, occupational therapists, medical social workers and other specialists capable of caring for handicapped patients, all urgently needed.

Polio is just at the bridge it needs our help to cross over. Science can conquer polio but only with your help. By helping each other we can succeed in this drive against polio. Each dime, nickel, or penny that you give may save your own life for who knows who will be the next victim of this disease.

The total amount collected for the March of Dimes as of Monday morning at the high school is $34.96.

45 HS Students Stay Out Jan. 2

Vacant desks in the rooms of Canyon High denoted a touch of loneliness January 2 as 40 students were absent the entire day, and five students were absent half a day.

On inquiring the reasons for absences, such answers as these were given:

"Mother wanted me to stay at home."

"I was deathly ill (cough, cough)"

"I missed the bus."

"I didn't know there was any school."

"I didn't feel well enough to go to school."

"I had to work."

"I had a sprained wrist."

"I was delayed in another town."

"I ate too much over the holidays, so I had a stomach ache."

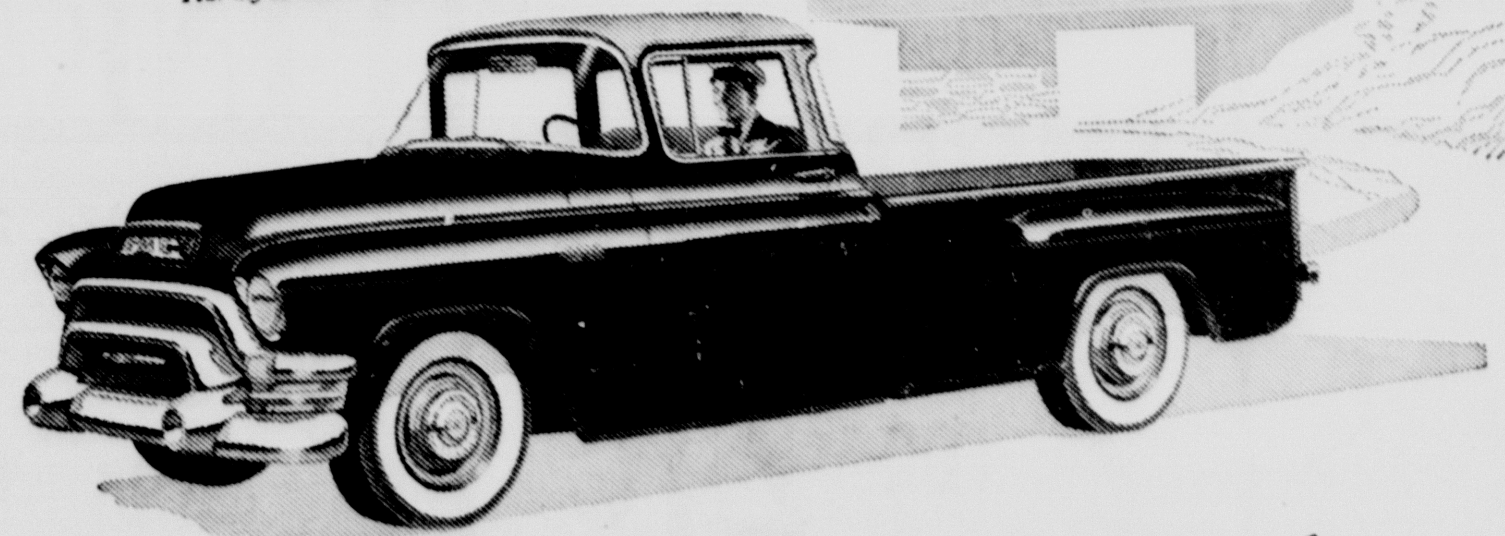

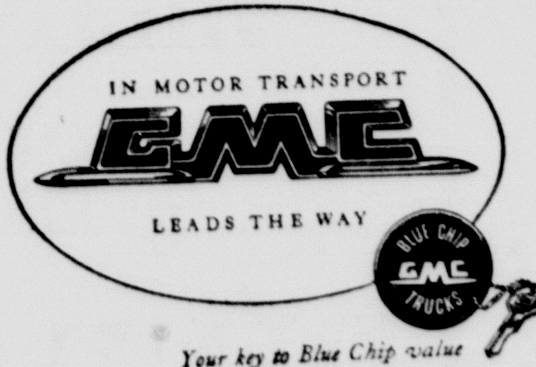

"Mother and daddy were ill and I had to stay home and wait on them."

These flimsy excuses may seem humorous at a glance, but actually to miss school is only a detriment to oneself. Let's get with it and get something accomplished!

A GOOD BET

"My daughter is going to play Beethoven tonight."

"I hope she wins."
